

COMPLETION

noun com·ple·tion \kəm·noun com·ple·tion

Hannah E Smith

Slow crawl turns sprint
Feet never tire from a journey
Serene sigh of relief

I have never completed anything. Nor have I felt like a complete person. Just pieces of a person that has been torn down and rebuilt several times. I also always say not finishing things is my biggest weakness and my biggest strength is picking myself up after failures.

That being said when I finish my Bachelors of Fine Arts in Web Design and New Media in less than a month I will feel like I finally finished something. Which is the only reason I have actually stuck with this degree and this school, Is to finally feel a sense of accomplishment

Think about the day the sun dies. The world will be nothing. Sunlight takes roughly 8 minutes and 20 seconds to get to the earth and illuminate the beautiful faces that struggle to stay alive here every day. The sun rises and sets every day like clockwork. If it didn't do that it would be a very dark world. The change it brings is sunlight to grow our food, heat our beaches and to keep scurvy out of america.

MUSIC INSPIRADO

- Something I Can Never Have-Nine Inch Nails <https://soundcloud.com/nineinchnails/something-i-can-never-have-1>
- 212- AZEALIA BANKS <https://soundcloud.com/azealia-banks/5-azealia-banks-212-45-second>
- Hurt-Johnny Cash <https://soundcloud.com/cash1590/johnny-cash-hurt>

CREATIVE CODE PIECES

Interpol concert visuals
at Coachella

CREATIVE CODE PIECES

Interactive Music Wall in H&M
Tent at Coachella Valley Festival

- Image Mapping On Faces <https://www.facebook.com/DJChamber/videos/10152999447788958/?pnref=story>

THANK YOU!

Hannah E Smith